TO
NEW MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTE
AND TO
LIBRARIES

In order to encourage and facilitate the forming of complete sets of the JOURNAL OF THE INSTITUTE the Council allows

Members of the Institute who have joined since 1897, and thus have not received all the volumes of the JOURNAL, to complete their sets by the payment of

Three-fifths the Ordinary Price, or $3.00 instead of $5.00 a volume. Those who desire six or more volumes may obtain them at half-price, or $2.50 a volume.

Libraries
which shall place the JOURNAL upon their lists of periodicals, may obtain the

First Sixteen Volumes, 1897-1912, at $40.00 instead of $80.00 for the Set.

Libraries which have partial sets may complete them at the terms offered to members of the Institute.

These offers can remain open only as long as the supply of volumes set apart for the purpose continues.

ARISTOTLE ON THE ART OF POETRY

Translated and adapted by LANE COOPER,
Assistant Professor of English in Cornell University.

12mo, Cloth, xxix + 101 Pages.

80 Cents

This amplified version of the Poetics of Aristotle aims to make this most important of all works on the drama and on literary criticism in general, intelligible for a first reading by students of English and other modern literatures.

The chief divisions of the work are clearly marked; the sequence of ideas is indicated by a running marginal gloss; what is merely implicit in the original is made explicit; and certain difficulties are removed through interpolated comments. In particular, Aristotle's examples, which are often hard to follow in a literal translation, are here expanded and clarified, and additional examples from Shakespeare, Milton, and other familiar sources are supplied, making the principles that are discussed much more comprehensible. A brief introduction on the Character and Value of the Poetics is included.

While designed for use in colleges and universities, the book will be helpful to students of poetry and of ancient as well as modern English and Continental drama.
